Introduction	1
Perspective.....	1
Where this manual comes in.....	1
How this manual is organized.....	2
How to get started.....	2
Chapter I: The New Nutrition Labeling: History and Important Features	3
Chapter II: The Road Ahead: Preview of Nutrition Labeling	9
Basic steps in nutrition labeling.....	9
The standard nutrition facts panel.....	10
Chapter III: Determining Regulatory Jurisdiction	11
Chapter IV: Variability in Nutrition Requirements/Special Populations	13
Chapter V: Foods Exempt From Mandatory Nutrition Labeling Requirements or Subject to Different Requirements	15
Foods subject to special nutrition labeling requirements.....	15
Foods completely exempt from nutrition labeling requirements	15
FDA-regulated food products exempt from nutrition labeling	16
USDA-regulated food products exempt from nutrition labeling	17
Why put nutrition labeling on an exempt food?	19
Chapter VI: The FDA Voluntary Nutrition Labeling Program	21
General provisions.....	21
Participation in a voluntary program vs. nutrition labeling of exempt food in general	21
Discontinuation of the USDA Voluntary Nutrition Labeling Program	22
Chapter VII: Guidelines for Obtaining Nutrient Data	23
‘As packaged’ vs. ‘as prepared/as consumed’ basis for data	23
Multi-component products.....	24
Acceptable nutrient data sources: USDA vs. FDA	24
Acceptable nutrient data sources: USDA guidelines	25
Acceptable nutrient data sources: FDA guidelines	26
Accuracy requirements	27
Practical guidance: database or lab analysis	28
Special exemptions from regulated requirements	28
Chapter VIII: Serving Information: Serving Size and Servings Per Container	31
What are RACCs?	31
Expression of serving size in a household measure.....	32
‘As packaged’ basis for serving size.....	33
The serving size/servings per container pathways.....	34
Main pathway (USDA and FDA)	35
Special USDA pathway: Single-ingredient, raw meat and poultry.....	51
FDA Voluntary labeling pathway: Raw fish	52
FDA Voluntary labeling pathway: Raw fruits and vegetables.....	53
Helpful hints for determining serving size and servings per container.....	54
RACC tables
USDA: General food supply.....	59
USDA: Infants and Children 1 to 3 years of age	61
FDA: General food supply.....	62

FDA: Infants and Children 1 to 3 years of age	80
Chapter IX: Declaration of Nutrient Levels per Serving	81
Selecting nutrients for declaration	81
Table of mandatory and voluntary nutrients	83
Special alert: Trans fat labeling on USDA-regulated foods	84
Scaling the nutrient data	85
Expressing nutrient levels in the correct units	85
Calculating percent Daily Values	85
Table of Daily Reference Values	87
Table of Reference Daily Intakes	88
Special declaration on foods with low-quality protein	91
Rounding quantitative values	92
Checking for agreement of %DVs and quantitative values	97
Postscript: A look to the future	97
Chapter X: Nutrition Facts Panel Location	99
USDA-regulated products	99
FDA-regulated products	100
Chapter XI: Nutrition Facts Panel Formatting and Printing	101
General considerations/gathering information	101
Nutrition Facts panel formatting questionnaire	103
Selecting the correct basic format	104
Adding a second set of nutrient data	104
Removing/shortening content as allowed	106
Adding a second language	111
Fitting the panel to the package	111
Meeting the graphic requirements	113
The honey bear dilemma	116
End of the road?	116
Sample formats

Linear (FDA/USDA)	133
Chapter XII: USDA Revision to the Nutrition Facts Panel	136
Chapter XIII: Nutrient Content Claims	135
Background	135
Nutrient content claim defined	136
Statements regarding nutritive value not considered expressed nutrient content claims	137
Statements regarding content that are not considered implied nutrient content claims	138
When ‘light’ is a nutrient content claim – and when it isn’t	139
Summary of authorized/defined nutrient content claims	140

Table of authorized/defined nutrient content claims.....	141
Restrictions on the use of nutrient content claims	144
Steps in making a nutrient content claim.....	145
Check for existing statements that trigger the regulations	146
Categorize the product.....	146
Identify new claims you wish to make	146
Gather necessary information for the product being labeled	147
For a relative claim, select a reference product and gather necessary information.....	147
Establish eligibility for the claim.....	148
Properly phrase the claim; provide supporting statements	149
Comply with graphic requirements.....	151
Meet Nutrition Facts Panel requirements	153
Use of nutrient content claims for butter	154
Use of a novel nutrient content claim	154
Tables of criteria for nutrient content claims
Individual foods (FDA/USDA)	155
Main dishes (FDA)	163
Meals (FDA/USDA).....	169
Chapter XIV: Health Claims	177
Background.....	177
Health claim defined.....	177
Substances that are candidates for health claims	178
Types of health claims	178
General health claim labeling requirements	181
Restrictions on health claims	181
Steps in making a health claim	182
Examine the product for existing health claims.....	182
Table of permitted health claims for food products.....	183
Determine the product type	185
Check for general disqualifying/qualifying nutrient levels.....	185
Identify any other claims you would like to make.....	186
Gather additional information required to check compliance with claim-specific requirements.....	186
Determine claim eligibility	187
Properly phrase the claim	187
Comply with graphic requirements.....	188
Meet Nutrition Facts Panel requirements	188
Claim-specific criteria and conditions for health claims.....	189
